PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Stephen's professional endeavors are founded on a life dedicated to public service.

Throughout his varied careers, Stephen has studied everything from mosquitoes and disease biology to bloodstain patterns, bullet trajectories, and digging up clandestine graves.

Today—through innovative, collaborative communication and technology solutions—he works to foster better leadership in the forensics industry and to support and improve the lives of people diagnosed with Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS).

Stephen's previous employers include the University of Arizona, the National Institutes of Health, the California Department of Justice, the Arizona Department of Public Safety, the National Forensic Science Technology Center, and the San Diego County Sheriff's Department.

Stephen has seventeen years of forensic experience, including Forensic Biology, Crime Scene Investigation and Reconstruction, and Firearms Analysis. He has testified as a qualified expert witness in courts in Arizona and California and in front of the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California. As an active member since 2007, he has served as the Regional Director South and Lead Webmaster for the California Association of Criminalists. In these roles, he increased public visibility by transforming the website and guiding the leadership through the transition to online training during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Before his career in forensics, Stephen worked for six years as a published research scientist. Under Dr. Michael Wells at the University of Arizona, he studied protease regulation in the Yellow Fever mosquito, Aedes aegypti. He also completed an internship at the National Institutes of Health/NIDDK, studying neutral lipid trafficking in Niemann-Pick Type C disease under Dr. E. Joan Blanchette-Mackie.

Stephen holds an Executive MBA with Honors from Quantic School of Business and Technology and a Bachelor of Science with Honors, magna cum laude, in Biochemistry and Molecular Biophysics and Molecular and Cellular Biology from the University of Arizona. Stephen is Phi Beta Kappa and a Society for Human Resource Management Certified Professional (SHRM-CP).

EDUCATION & PROFESSIONAL CREDENTIALS

Executive Master of Business Administration with Honors: Business Administration and Management. Quantic School of Business and Technology, July 2023. Specializations in Entrepreneurship and Strategy; Quantic Entrepreneurs.

Bachelor of Science with Honors: Biochemistry and Molecular and Cellular Biology. University of Arizona, May 2005, magna cum laude. Undergraduate Biology Research Program, Phi Beta Kappa, Golden Key, Galileo Circle Scholar, Biochemistry Ambassador, DaVinci Award.

Society for Human Resource Management Certified Professional (SHRM-CP)
Issued January 2023

Attended formal training and pursued continuing education.

University of Arizona, Tucson

4/2006 – 4/2007

Dr. Michael A. Wells, Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biophysics

Research Specialist

Duties: Conducted research on the regulation of digestive proteases and the metabolic fate of blood meal amino acids in the female mosquito, Aedes aegypti; maintained and arranged for equipment repairs and general lab upkeep; and mentored and oversaw the work of an undergraduate student on a relevant lab project.

California Department of Justice, Attorney General's Office

9/2005 – 4/2006

Jan Bashinski DNA Laboratory, Richmond, CA

Criminalist

Duties: Documented the collection and entry of convicted felon buccal swab samples for STR analysis and upload into the CALDNA Databank; handled and entered up to 5,000 samples each month; maintained and used BSD 600 equipment and Hamilton robots for DNA sample partition, extraction, and quantitation for in-house analysis; organized and shipped buccal swab samples for outsourcing; researched a sodium hydroxide DNA extraction protocol and compared it with lab extraction protocols. Trained in DNA Analyst Training for Databank Users.

National Institute of Diabetes and Digestive and Kidney Diseases

6/2003 – 8/2003

Dr. E. Joan Blanchette-Mackie, Laboratory of Cell Biology and Biochemistry

National Institutes of Health

Research Internship

Duties: Conducted research on neutral lipid trafficking in Niemann-Pick Type C mutant fibroblasts.

University of Arizona, Tucson

9/2000 – 9/2005

Dr. Michael A. Wells, Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biophysics

Research Technician

Duties: Conducted research on the regulation of digestive proteases and the metabolic fate of blood meal amino acids in the female mosquito, Aedes aegypti.
